

Ernesto M. Hernández is an international arbitration lawyer who represents multinational corporations, sovereign States, and other clients in complex cross-border disputes. His practice focuses on international commercial arbitration and investment treaty arbitration, and he has acted in matters under the rules of major arbitral institutions, including the AAA-ICDR. Fluent in Spanish, he frequently handles all-Spanish and bilingual proceedings.

Ernesto also regularly advises clients on arbitration clause drafting, dispute resolution strategy, and the practicalities of pursuing or defending claims in arbitration. His experience across jurisdictions, including time working in South America, enables him to navigate the legal, commercial, and cultural considerations that influence cross-border agreements and disputes. His broader disputes practice includes the recognition and enforcement of arbitral awards, complex commercial litigation, and appellate advocacy.
